

Newspaper launch!

This week's edition of 't Swannetje also marks the festive launch of the world's saltiest and most exciting newspaper!

During the trip we will serve you with weekly gossip and entertainment of the highest standard. However, this cannot be achieved alone. For this week's edition the newspaper is curated by Fee and Noortje. Next editions are waiting for much needed editors, so make sure to write your name on the 'blogs' schedule.

-Koen

The Whispering winds

-Some bunks have been used as a twin bunk.

-People already have a long list of annoyances of trainees and crew on their phones.

-Fashion police; how's what Jarno is wearing allowed?

-Trainees have assigned a pooping buddy.

-Sylvana and Olivier; love unanswered or in early bloom?

Got more juicy gossip? Please contact Koen and make the winds run free.

The Deckhand Detective

Do you know where this picture is taken?

Hoisting and away!

Written by Noortje and Fee

Hee guys, Fee and Noortje here and we are going to tell you about our first week on the Wylde Swan. We're going to skip the first day because it was not it, you know it was a very long day. We woke up sweaty across our whole body in our bunks, or if you were not lucky you woke up in a hammock. For breakfast we had self-made bread from our lovely Carmen. After breakfast we had to do self-study :(It was a very warm day in Cuba so we didn't like it. The rest of the day we learned a lot about each other and the ship. The next day we woke up way too early to go on an excursion. We went to a very, very, very big waterfall and we took a jump in cold water. In this excursion Koen found his self again, so that's great for him.

We're going to skip a day because we have no interesting news only that a few people were seasick and the watches had begun. For the people who don't know what watches: you must wake up in the middle of the week of the fucking night to do a deck-check and engineer room check, but you don't hear us complaining. In Jamaica the weather was not that great. It was raining the whole day, but despite that we had a great time with each other.

We went to take the bus to the Blue Lagoon and we had a swim with sea turtles. After that we went to a market where everyone could buy souvenirs with the dollars we had brought with us. When we went back to the ship he was not there, we had to wait for it to be back in the harbor. Meanwhile we ate a typically Jamaican dish and we did the game Anne Maria Koekkoek. Also, I (Fee) was connected to the box, so we had a super fun party in the harbor!!!!!! We helped Carmen with getting the food inside the ship. And then we had dinner, barbeque. Now we (Noor and Fee) are sitting at the mid-deck of the ship and we are sailing near the Bahama's. The rest of the trainees are chilling and waiting for the next sail training. An hour ago, we had our deep clean Happy Hour. We called it deep clean because the last two days we were heeling all the time so we couldn't do a good Happy Hour. We have heard from the crew that our group of trainees is very connected with each other and that we have a lot of fun with each other. So that's really good to hear. So this was our first recap we hope you liked it! Challa's!!!!

Quotes of the week

I lost my bed!

Lobke

Did you go for a swim in the sea? Was it salty?

Maaïke

Did you know?

At the end of the trip, everyone will have similar bacteria and fungi in their guts?

Arre

Riddle of the week

I can travel the world, but will always stay in a corner, what am I?

Koen

